Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-12, drawn to a calibration process for a detector, classified in class 324, subclass 601.
- II. Claim 13-27, drawn to process for operating a detector with mapping, classified in class 324, subclass 464.
- III. Claim 28-32, drawn to a process for operating a detector based on threshold, classified in class 324, subclass 464.
- IV. Claims 33-36, drawn to process for operating a photo-ionization detector, classified in class 324, subclass 409.

Inventions II and I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination does not require a change from a first signal level to a second level when a measurement is above the threshold, and then back to the first signal level when the gas falls below a threshold. The subcombination has separate utility such as calibrating a lamp when it is determined the gas concentration level is above a threshold.

Inventions II and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination is not required to test if the gas is above a threshold level. The subcombination has separate utility such as applying a second drive signal if the gas level is above a dangerous (threshold) level in a lamp.

Inventions II and IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination is not required to sense if the lamp is operating properly. The subcombination has separate utility such as making a determination of a faulty lamp.

A telephone call was made to Mr. David Millers on September 10, 2004 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
